Noah Harborth, Front End Developer

Self taught Web Developer who is passionate in everything about web and tech. I like to change things and build cool stuff I like (and can show off to my friends hehe).

I am experienced in web development, testing and UI/UX basics, but still keep learning new tech e.g. new JS Frameworks.

I'm curious about everything new, that is why I like learning new skills.

I can work on my own but I love and prefer working in a small team with a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

Employment History

Front End Developer at Kreativzirkel, Düsseldorf

November 2021 — Present

Created web apps with different tech like CMS or React. Mainly developed in WordPress with PHP and JavaScript.

Working for a small team as 1 of 2 devs at the agency was really diverse in terms of using and learning new concepts and tech. I also did smaller tasks outside developing like product management, design and product conception.

Some of my projects:
